

Reflection

This is the first assignment in this class. I remember I made a lot of mistakes. For example, I made a lot of mistakes in grammar and my paper lacks proofread. There are also a lot of punctuation mistakes and formatting issues that I need to improve. As I wrote this assignment, I remembered how this book affected me at age twelve and how the Harry Potter series taught me a lot of life lessons that I can apply to our life. For example, it taught me about friendship, love, family, and bravery. What I learn from it is that we should not escape from difficulties and always support each other when we encounter problems. Friendship can get you through anything.
